

Sawtooth Electron Heat Pulse

- Heat pulse propagation is an old tool for studying properties of heat transport.
- Possibility that NSTX plasmas could be optimized to provide good sawteeth to generate heat pulses.
- Desire repetitive, small inversion radius sawteeth for long period. SXI set up to detect heat pulses.
- EBW system could potentially contribute!