

The boundary shape is locally modified to simulate the effect of a nearby coil. The ballooning stability is determined and the effect of the 'dimpling' on the metric quantities 'local shear' and κ -normal is examined

